Monthly Commentary March 31, 2009

[Apr 7, 2009]—The Class A units outperformed the S&P 500 Total Return Index (CAD) by 0.06% for the month of March.

Q4 GDP results were again 're-revised' to -6.3% from -6.2% annualized. On a positive note, durable goods orders and consumer spending for February saw upticks of 3.4% and 0.2% respectively. That, coupled with Tim Geithner's announcement of a series of initiatives to assist the recovery of the financial sector, resulted in a market rebound after bottoming out at a level (when and at what level???) not seen since September 1996.

The S&P 500 closed the month at 798 and, with respect to the commodities (oil, gas, gold, silver, and copper), only oil appreciated for the month. March also saw the US dollar index decrease 2.9%.
